Autism awareness and behaviour: Strategies for families

Where: Woodlands Meed School

When: 1st March and 15th March 2019, 12.45-2.45

To book a place: Please email lorbett@woodlandsmeed.co.uk

This free course will run over 2 sessions, a fortnight apart, and will be facilitated by Woodlands Meed School teachers. We'll look at what autism means for each person and how it affects daily life, learning and social communication. We will discuss challenging behaviours and developmental milestones and strategies we can use to address these. This is open to all families in the local area, not just those with children at Woodlands Meed School. Places are limited and booking is essential.
